OUTLOOK

Quickness and intensity. Those will be the trademarks of the 1987-88 Lady Terps. Coach Chris Weller will rely on the speed and depth of her backcourt to employ a fastbreak attack and pressure defense.

Although the Lady Terps appear young on paper, they have more experience than years past. Four starters return from last year along with Kaisa Maine and Deanna Tate, the MVP of the 1986 ACC Tournament. Leading the returnees is 5'8" guard Edna Campbell, an All-ACC Tournament Team Selection as a freshman. Campbell is the team's leading returning scorer, averaging 16.07 points per game last season. Vicky Bullett, a 6'3" forward/center and MVP of the 1986 Florida Classic, returns for her junior season as the team's leading returning rebounder. Teaming with Campbell in the backcourt will be senior guard Lisa Brown and junior guard Deanna Tate. Brown returns for her final season to captain the squad for her second consecutive year and her experience will be vital in leading this year's relatively young team. Tate returns this season after sitting out the 1986-87 campaign to concentrate on her academics. Christy Winters, a 6'3" center/forward, returns for her second season as a Lady Terp. She, along with Bullett, will be counted on heavily for rebounding purposes essential for initiating the fastbreak. Maine, a 6'1" junior forward will provide depth and experience to the frontcourt.

The Maryland Women's Basketball Team includes three newcomers this year. Heading the list is 5'8" guard Carla Holmes. She is considered a "blue chip" prospect with the potential to be one of the top guards in the country. As a junior and senior, Holmes was honored by the Associated Press as Group A Player of the Year in the state of Virginia. She is an AAU All-American and for four years was chosen Player of the Year by the local news. She was selected to the All-District team for four years, gathering MVP or Co-MVP three out of those four years. A native of Berryville, Virginia, Holmes averaged 22 points, 8 rebounds, and 5 assists per game for four years while scoring 2,215 points.

Joining Holmes is another 5'8" guard from nearby Gaithersburg High School in Montgomery County. Mary Barnes has been described by Coach Weller as one of the purest outside shooters she has seen come out of high school. Barnes was a second team All-County and third team All-Met selection in 1987. She was chosen as Gaithersburg High School Athlete of the Year for 1986-87. She averaged 17.6 points, 4 rebounds, and 5 assists per game as a senior.

The final addition to the Lady Terps is junior college transfer Melissa Gaines. Gaines was a first team All-Conference and second team All-Region selection her two years at Hagerstown Junior College. While attending Hagerstown, she averaged 15 points per game while shooting 52.5% from the field. Before attending Hagerstown Junior College, Gaines graduated from South Hagerstown High School.

A weakness this year will be the depth of the front line; however, if the Lady Terps can stay injury free and out of foul trouble, they will have tremendous ability at that position. Coach Weller knows that rebounding will be the biggest challenge this year. "Everyone in our entire organization better be concentrating on the boards — managers, ball girls, staff, and players. A rebound will definitely be our most prized possession this year," states Weller. If the Lady Terps are to succeed when thay face the nation's third toughest schedule, running a successful fastbreak will be the key. With more emphasis placed on rebounding, Coach Weller plans to use a three guard alignment to utilize her fastbreak attack. While Many of the preseason predictions have left the Lady Terps unranked, one poll did list them as high as tenth in the nation. This surely exemplifies the challenge which lies ahead. The Terps have set their goals on recapturing another ACC title and returning to the national tournament.

Dr. John S. Toll

President

As president of a major research University with five campuses and 88,400 students worldwide, John S. Toll is dedicated to strengthening excellence in teaching, research, and public service. Under his leadership, the University has developed programs of high quality, has attracted outstanding faculty and students, and has built partnerships with industry, government, schools, and other institutions.

In the past few years, milestones in the University's progress have included two Pulitzer Prizes for faculty members and important developments in medical research and treatment, in biotechnology, and in many other areas, among them:

- The National Science Foundation awarded the College Park campus a $16 million grant to establish a Systems Research Center, one of six national centers of excellence in engineering.
- The University's Center of Marine Biotechnology, located in Baltimore, has received a $6.695 million, five-year federal grant.
- The U.S. Department of Education awarded the College of Education a $6.5 million, five-year grant to establish a Center for Research on Postsecondary Education Management and Governance.
- Philanthropic support for academic programs at the University has reached a new high of over $12 million annually.
- The arts flourish at Maryland, including the highly acclaimed Handel Festival; the traveling performances of "Shakespeare on Wheels," and the world renowned University of Maryland Piano Festival and William Kapell Competition.

John Toll graduated from Yale, 1944, with highest honors and earned his advanced degrees in physics at Princeton. During his distinguished career as a theoretical physicist and educator, for 12 years he chaired the physics department at the College Park campus and led it to national prominence. He then served as president of the State University of New York at Stony Brook from 1965 to 1978, when he returned to Maryland to become the University's 22nd president. An avid jogger and tennis player, Dr. Toll and his wife Deborah have two daughters.

Dr. John Brooks Slaughter

Chancellor

John Brooks Slaughter, the third Chancellor of the College Park Campus, is a distinguished scientist and a dedicated humanitarian as well as an able administrator. His research specialities are in the fields of electrical engineering and computer systems. His accomplishments in these fields have brought him high recognition. He is a Fellow in the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He holds membership in the National Academy of Engineering, was selected U.C.L.A. Engineering Alumnus of the Year (1978), received the Distinguished Service Award from the National Science Foundation (1979), and was recognized for Distinguished Service in Engineering by Kansas State University (1981).

Dr. Slaughter received his B.S. Degree in Electrical Engineering in 1956 at Kansas State University, and his Master's in Engineering from UCLA in 1961. He earned his Ph.D. in Engineering Science from the University of California, San Diego in 1971.

Dr. Slaughter is married to Dr. Ida Bernice Slaughter, herself an educator with the Montgomery County Public Schools. They have two children; John, a veterinarian, and Jacqueline, a graduate of Hampton University.

Prior to assuming his responsibilities at the University of Maryland, Dr. Slaughter served as Academic Vice President and Provost at Washington State University and as Director of the National Science Foundation. In his inauguration address to the College Park campus on May 3, 1983, he set the course for his administration: "I want to see this campus continue its vigorous pursuit of academic excellence while reaching out to a more diversified student body. I want the University of Maryland at College Park to set a national standard for excellence and equality. As we pursue these goals, we must also enhance our contributions to the State. Finally, I am committed to a university that is a community, a community that takes pride in itself and touches each person involved in the campus with pride."

Lew Perkins Director of Athletics

In his first six months as Director of Athletics, Lew Perkins has concentrated on establishing a strong administrative team to manage the athletic program.

Among his first priorities was hiring Dr. Gerald Gurney as Director of the Academic Support Unit. Dr. Gurney will manage the overall academic progress of all Maryland athletes.

Perkins has also concentrated on reviewing the total fund raising effort of the Maryland Athletic Department and has begun to develop plans for the overall enhancement of the program.

He has been a visible and active leader of the program, making a number of public appearances throughout the state and the area. His purpose is to meet with as many alumni groups and state leaders that his busy schedule will permit.

Perkins believes strongly in the academic progress of student-athletes and the visibility of the entire athletic program at the University.

He assumed the duties as Director of Intercollegiate Athletics on June 8, 1987.

In announcing the appointment of Perkins as the Maryland AD, on May 11, Chancellor John Slaughter said "He has demonstrated exceptional skills in management. He has an outstanding ability to make tough fiscal decisions when they are necessary and he has a clear philosophy that a sound athletic program must place its highest priority on supporting the academic program of the institution."

Perkins had gained a reputation as an outstanding administrator while serving as the Director of Athletics at Wichita State University for four years. He spent countless hours fostering university and community relations and building a solid working relationship with the NCAA and athletic programs around the country.

Results of his efforts were rewarded in 1985 when the NCAA, in an unprecedented move, cited Wichita State for running an exemplary program. The Arizona Republic newspaper soon after rated Perkins one of the top 25 athletic directors in the nation.

Perkins philosophy for direction of the 16 sport varsity intercollegiate program at Wichita State was that "winning is the most important thing in the world but not at the expense of the student-athlete or institution." His concern for the welfare of the student-athlete was confirmed when he instituted the Athletic Director's Honor Roll to honor Wichita State student-athletes maintaining a 3.0 grade point average or better. In the first two years of his honor roll program, 212 athletes were recognized for their academic achievements.

A native of Chelsea, Massachusetts, Perkins has been active in collegiate athletics since he graduated from Chelsea High in 1963. He was the top basketball scorer in the Boston area that year, averaging over 35 points a game.

He attended the University of Iowa where he earned three letters in basketball as the Hawkeyes recorded a 47-25 record. As a senior, he received the Tony Cordaro Memorial Award in recognition of his achievements on the basketball court and in the classroom.

He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Iowa in 1967 and in 1969 received certification in Physical Education. In 1975, he earned a master's degree in Guidance and Counseling from the University of South Carolina-Columbia.

Upon leaving Iowa he became the Athletic Director and Head Basketball Coach at the University of South Carolina-Aiken where he remained for 11 years. He took USC-Aiken from junior college to four year status and built a strong athletic program.

He served as Associate Athletics Director at the University of Pennsylvania from 1980 to 1983. While at Penn he was responsible for the day-to-day operation of an athletic program that included 28 varsity sports. He handled many responsibilities while at Penn, including supervising and monitoring NCAA and Ivy League rules and regulations.

At Maryland, Perkins oversees a department fielding NCAA teams in 23 sports and operating on an annual budget of $8.7 million. The department has over 90 full-time employees.

Perkins was born on March 24, 1945. He is married to the former Gwen Flaum. Gwen has her BA degree from the University of Iowa and a Master's in Education from the University of South Carolina where she is also a Doctoral candidate.

They have two daughters Amy, 16, a volleyball player in high school, and Holly 14. Holly is active in all sports but favors golf.

CHRIS WELLER

Chris Weller is entering her thirteenth year as Head Coach of the Women's Basketball Team. Her 237-106 overall record speaks for itself, and among those 343 games, there have been eight post season tournament appearances, two final four berths and six ACC Championships (the most by any one coach). Through 1985, her teams were ranked nationally nine consecutive years, 130 consecutive times. Out of 130 times, 75 of those were in the top ten. At one point, Maryland had a consecutive streak of 29 weeks in the top ten. Her 1986-87 team was ranked in the top twenty for six consecutive weeks.

Coach Weller has had the distinction of coaching seventeen international players ranging from Athletes in Action to Olympic Team members. Collegiately, she has coached two All-Americans and fourteen All-ACC Tournament players. In her thirteen years of coaching, seven former players have gone on to become either high school or college coaches.

Weller is a member of the Maryland Class of '66. She played four years of varsity basketball, serving as team captain on two of them. In addition to basketball, Weller was on the swim team for two years and played on the schools first women's lacrosse squad. Following graduation, she taught physical education for seven years at nearby John F. Kennedy High School in Silver Spring, Maryland. As a teacher, she coached basketball, track, tennis, and lacrosse.

Weller returned to Maryland in 1973 as an assistant basketball coach and immediately made a strong impact on the junior varsity program. In 1975 she took over the varsity program and in 1976 was appointed Assistant Athletic Director for Women's Sports, a position she held until 1980. In those four years, Coach Weller was instrumental in building one of the finest women's athletic programs in the nation.

Weller was voted Kodak District III Coach of the Year in 1983. In 1985 she was appointed to the U.S. Olympic Committee and served as the assistant coach for the U.S. National Jones Cup Team that won the gold medal in Taiwan in July of '85. She has also served on the Kodak All-American Committee, and the EAIAW Basketball Committee, and currently, she is a member of the WBCA (Coaches Association) Legislative Committee. Her most recent accomplishment was coaching the U.S. Select Team that participated in the National Invitational Tournament in July of 1986.

For the past nine summers Coach Weller has run a basketball camp for girls helping to encourage the growth of interest in women's basketball. Weller is also a popular speaker at coaching clinics, having developed a reputation of being one of the top technicians of the game.

ASSISTANT COACHES

Belinda "Boe" Pearman

Boe Pearman begins her third season as an assistant coach and head coordinator of recruiting and scouting for the Lady Terrapins. She received her bachelor's degree in Recreation from the University in 1985. Boe was a member of Weller's 1980-84 squad and co-captain her senior year. She is the seventh all-time leading scorer with 1,284 points and the ninth leading rebounder with 531. Boe, along with Debbie Lytle and Marica Richardson, holds the record for most games played in a season (32) in 1981-82. Originally from Hagerstown, Maryland, Boe was All-American at South Hagerstown High. She also lettered in volleyball and track while attending South Hagerstown.

Myra Waters

Myra begins her second season as assistant coach for the Lady Terrapins. Waters has her place in the Terps' Record Book as the third all-time leading scorer with 1,423 career points and second all-time leading rebounder with 782. A former international player, she played in the 1978 Olympic Festival in Colorado and was a member of the U.S. Junior Team the same year. A native of Toledo, Ohio, Myra chose to stay in the Washington area after graduating in 1982 with a degree in Psychology. Before joining the Maryland staff for the 1986-87 season, she was an assistant coach at Georgetown from 1983-86.

Tara Heiss

Tara returns for a second season as assistant coach for the Women's Basketball Team. She was a four-year letterwinner, starting three of those years at the point guard position, and graduated with a degree in Physical Education in 1978. Along with being the first 1000+ career scorer, Tara was also the first player to have her number retired. After graduation, Tara competed internationally, representing the United States in the 1987 World University Games, the 1979 Pan Am Games, and was a member of the 1980 U.S. Olympic Team.

Gothard Lane

Gothard Lane assumed the duties of assistant athletic director for non-revenue sports in March, 1982.

He began his career at Maryland in 1973, when he was hired by football coach Jerry Claiborne as a defensive backfield coach, a job he held for four years. From 1977 to 1982, Lane held the position of administrative assistant to the director of athletics, and director of recruiting.

As assistant AD, Lane holds administrative responsibility for all men's and women's non-revenue sports.

Frank Costello assumed the position as assistant to the athletic director in 1981, and is in charge of the strength and conditioning program for the entire athletic department.

No stranger to Maryland, Costello was an All-America high jumper for the Terps from 1965-1968 and served as assistant track coach for six years after graduation. He was named head track coach in 1974, a position he held for seven years. He developed several world-class track stars, including world record holder Renaldo Nehemiah.

Costello came to Maryland as the New Jersey high jump champion and record holder in 1963, and was undefeated in ACC, IC4A and NCAA competition in 1965, winning both NCAA titles. While competing with Maryland, he also won seven titles in the Penn Relays, the Milrose Games, the Eastern European Championships, the Southern Hemisphere Games and the French National Championship. He was ranked third in the world in 1966.

In addition to coaching track and field, Costello has published several articles on training techniques. He served as a conditioning consultant for the NFL's Green Bay Packers from 1977-80, and has served as high jump coach for the Olympic Development Program.

Frank Costello

Sandy Worth

Sandy Worth begins her 14th year as Associate Athletic Trainer at the University of Maryland. A graduate of Maryland (1973) Sandy holds a B.S. in Physical Education.

Sandy came from Delaney High School in Baltimore to play field hockey and basketball for Maryland. During her four years as a Terp, Sandy became interested in training after sustaining several injuries.

Worth, now certified by the National Athletic Trainer's Association (N.A.T.A.) is also an author of several athletic injury articles, a clinician/lecturer at training workshops and a certified EMT. Along with her training responsibilities, Sandy coordinates the student-trainer program.

COLE FIELD HOUSE

Maryland — Where It Happens

Located near big cities, small towns, intellectual resources and beautiful countryside, The University of Maryland offers the best of both worlds.

While located only nine miles from our nation's Capital, College Park is still able to maintain its small town charm, with quick access to not only Washington, D.C. but Baltimore and Annapolis. This 40-mile corridor between Washington and Baltimore is one of the richest concentrations of resources and intellectual leadership in the world and the University of Maryland is in the center of it all. As a student you have easy access to many of the country's best research facilities such as the Library of Congress, the Shakespeare Library, the National Library of Medicine and the Department of Agriculture facilities.

In addition to the scholarly pursuits there are many cultural and entertaining opportunities near by from the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts with its concert hall and opera house, the National Theater, to the Smithsonian Institute with their many museums. Washington has a lot to offer. Washington is also the home of the National Symphony Orchestra and headquarters of the American Film Institute. Twenty minutes from campus is the Capital Centre, a modern sports and concert arena and home of the Washington Capitals and the Washington Bullets.

One of the great ports of the world, Baltimore, 35 minutes away, has undergone a recent and remarkable revitalization. Baltimore's Inner Harbor now glistens with new office towers, quaint shops and ethnic restaurants representing its many colorful neighborhoods. James Rouse's Harbor Place mall and the new National Aquarium anchor the Inner Harbor and have transformed it into a cultural magnet that each year attracts thousands of tourists.

The University of Maryland is surrounded by history not only by the well-known sites of Washington and Baltimore but within the beautiful countryside of Montgomery and Prince George's counties. Annapolis the capital of Maryland has a charm of its own with its cobblestone roads and sailing ports.

The area of Washington to Baltimore produces a corridor of exceptional opportunities; however, College Park's relationship with it is not one of just proximity. Hands-on experience is available to undergraduates at some of the country's most prominent agencies and institutions from NASA and the Smithsonian to Congress itself. Because of its unique location, the University of Maryland at College Park is also able to draw Nobel Prize winners, cabinet members and internationally renowned scientists, artists and writers who regularly visit the campus to share their knowledge with students.

U.S. Capitol (East Terrace)—When Major Pierre Charles L'Enfant, hired by George Washington to design the capital city, first saw the boggy lowlands south of Georgetown, Maryland in 1791, he took one look at Jenkins Hill, protruding from the swamp and called it "a pedestal waiting for a monument." The monument became the U.S. Catitol, visited today by more than a million persons annually. (Photo courtesy of the Washington Convention and Visitors Association).

THE UNIVERSITY

Maryland

Led by its flagship campus at College Park, the University of Maryland is the state's land grant institution located on five major campuses that reach out to the university's students worldwide.

With some 87,838 students, more than 4,000 full-time faculty, and over 400 major programs of study, the univesity ranks among the top 20 public research universities in the country. Six programs at College Park (computer science, math, physics, art history, economics, and electrical engineering) are ranked among the top 10.

The 1,378-acre College Park campus, encompassing 10 professional colleges and, offers 125 programs of study for undergraduates. Preprofessional education is offered in 13 fields; the graduate student may choose among 80 academic areas.

Close to 30,000 undergraduates, including an increasing number of Merit Scholars and recipients of Banneker Scholarships for black students, and 8,000 graduates avail themselves of such research facilities as: scanning electron microscopes; subsonic and supersonic wind tunnels; an electron ring accelerator; a gravitational radiation detection system including a gravimeter on the moon; a criminal forensics laboratory; and a laboratory for plasma and fusion studies. To serve both students and faculty, the McKeldin and Hornbake libraries together with a number of specialty libraries provide materials covering all fields of modern and ancient research.

There exists a student-teacher ratio of 16-to-1 and 70% of all classes have enrollment below 30 students. Support services are available such as the Academic Advisory Support Program (AASP), Study Hall programs, and Tutorial Services.

Other major components of the university are the Center for Environmental and Esturaine Studies, where research and public sevice projects deal with biology and ecology of Maryland and the Chesapeake Bay; the Cooperative Extension Service which provides statewide service on agriculture, home economics, and ways to improve living conditions; and the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station carrying on a university-wide program of research in agriculture and related areas. In addition to these centers, the U.S. Department of Commerce has designated Maryland as a Sea Grant College in recognition of the quality of its work related to the Chesapeake Bay.
